

Call for Papers

Special Issue of Journal on “Crime, Law and Social Change

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Please consider submitting a paper for the special issue of the Crime, Law and Social Change: An Interdisciplinary Journal, entitled

"Empirical Problems on Legal Defense in Latin America".

The call for papers, as well as a timeline and submission instructions are on the journal's website.

In this special issue, we expect to receive studies that contribute to the knowledge regarding the role played by the Legal Defense Institutions in Latin America in the institutionalization of a more adversarial criminal justice system and the deconstruction of inquisitorial characteristics.

All submissions should have a strong methodological focus/sensitivity.

Comparative research of cases from different Latin American contexts can enrich theoretical concepts and policy implications in this area.

The deadline for submitting your paper is January 31st, 2022.

Please, do not hesitate to contact the guest editors (Ludmila Ribeiro - lmr@ufmg.br pr Gustavo Fondevila - gustavo.fondevila@cide.edu) if you have any questions.
